LEARNING METHOD-

- Blended learning: Combining online learning with traditional classroom teaching to provide students with a variety of resources and flexibility in their studies.
- Clinical demonstration: Experts or teachers show students medical procedures or techniques in real clinical settings, giving them practical experience and understanding.
- School Health Teaching: School health education is a core part of a school's mission and helps students develop the knowledge and skills to live healthy lives and also helps to promote healthy behaviors among the children that they will inculcate for life.
- Small group discussion: Students work together in small groups to discuss nursing topics, exchange ideas, and enhance their learning through collaboration and interaction.
- Hospital bedside learning: Students learn directly from patients in hospital settings, observing procedures and interacting with healthcare professionals to gain hands-on experience and insight into patient care.
- Seminar: Experts or students gather to discuss specific nursing topics, sharing knowledge, research findings, and insights to deepen understanding and promote professional development.
- Case presentation: Students analyse and present detailed medical cases, discussing patient history, diagnosis, and treatment plans to enhance critical thinking and communication skills.
- Role play on Meri Mati Mera Desh: Students act out nursing scenarios to practice communication, decision-making, and problem-solving skills in a simulated environment.
- Project-based learning: Students work on long-term projects related to nursing, conducting research, problem-solving, and presenting findings to develop practical skills and knowledge.
- Learning through community posting: A group of students with shared learning goals who collaborate and connect with one another. In a community of students, interactions are both practical and emotional.
- Learning through hybrid conference: Participating in competitions motivates students to excel in nursing knowledge and skills, fostering a spirit of learning and achievement.
- E-learning: Accessing online courses and resources provides students with flexibility in learning nursing concepts and skills at their own pace and convenience.
- Academic Conference/Workshop: Attending conferences or workshops exposes students to expert knowledge, research, and networking opportunities in the nursing field, enhancing professional development.
- Case study discussion: Analysing real-life medical cases helps students understand different conditions, treatment options, and how to apply theoretical knowledge to practical situations.
