Report for FDP on malpractice in pharmacy

Date: 09/11/2023

The faculty development programme (FDP) was schedule between 05/11/2023, the programme was conducted by Dr. Sumeet Dwevidi This programme was organized to enhance the knowledge and for the development of the faculties. The seminar was conducted in room with no. 2 of IIP.

The topics are covered in her session are as follows:

1. Types of malpractice
2. Physician and pharmacist liability towards malpractice
3. Negligence v/s malpractice
4. How to prevent malpractice
5. Types of medication errors

He started his session on the topic malpractice, and types of malpractice. Malpractice is an improper, illegal, or negligent professional behavior. Which was done by any healthcare professionals or pharmacist. He also explained about the types of malpractice.

The types of malpractice in pharmacy are as follows:

Types of Malpractice in Pharmacy

- Dispensing the Wrong Medication: The medicine that the pharmacist delivers to the patient is wrong.
- Dispensing the Wrong Dosage.
- Missing Instructions and Failure to Advise
- Wrong Directions
- Failure to Run Medication Conflicts Contra-indications
- Failure to Consider Allergies

He proceed the session and explain, The malpractice performed by the pharmacist is that he does not guide the patient about "The name and description of the medication, the route, dosage form and duration of therapy, special direction or precautions, harm and severe side or adverse effects, techniques for self-monitoring, proper storage, prescription refill information, action to be taken in the event of a misdose. This liability leads to medication error to the patient.

- Medical negligence: This is when a healthcare professional makes a decision or performs an action that accidentally causes harm to their patient.

- Medical malpractice: A healthcare professional should never try to cause harm. But if a healthcare professional is aware of the potential consequences before making a mistake, it could be considered medical malpractice.

On third day she guides us on the topic how to prevent malpractice. The steps are as follows:

- Strive for, trusting, open relationships
- Good communication is key
- Document patient visits ASAP
- The role of practice culture
- Don't be afraid to refer

And on the types of medication errors are as follows:

Types of Medication Errors

- Prescribing: In this the physician prescribed wrong medication to the patient.
- Wrong time: This type of errors can occurs which the pharmacist does not mentioned the time of the dosage to take like before food or after food and may be the patient forgot to take his medication.
- Unauthorized drug: sometimes this type of medication errors occurred which patient do not concern the physician and take medication.
- Improper dose: in this errors the patient wrong dosage of medication.
- Wrong dose prescription: This type of medication occurs when the patient take others patient prescription.

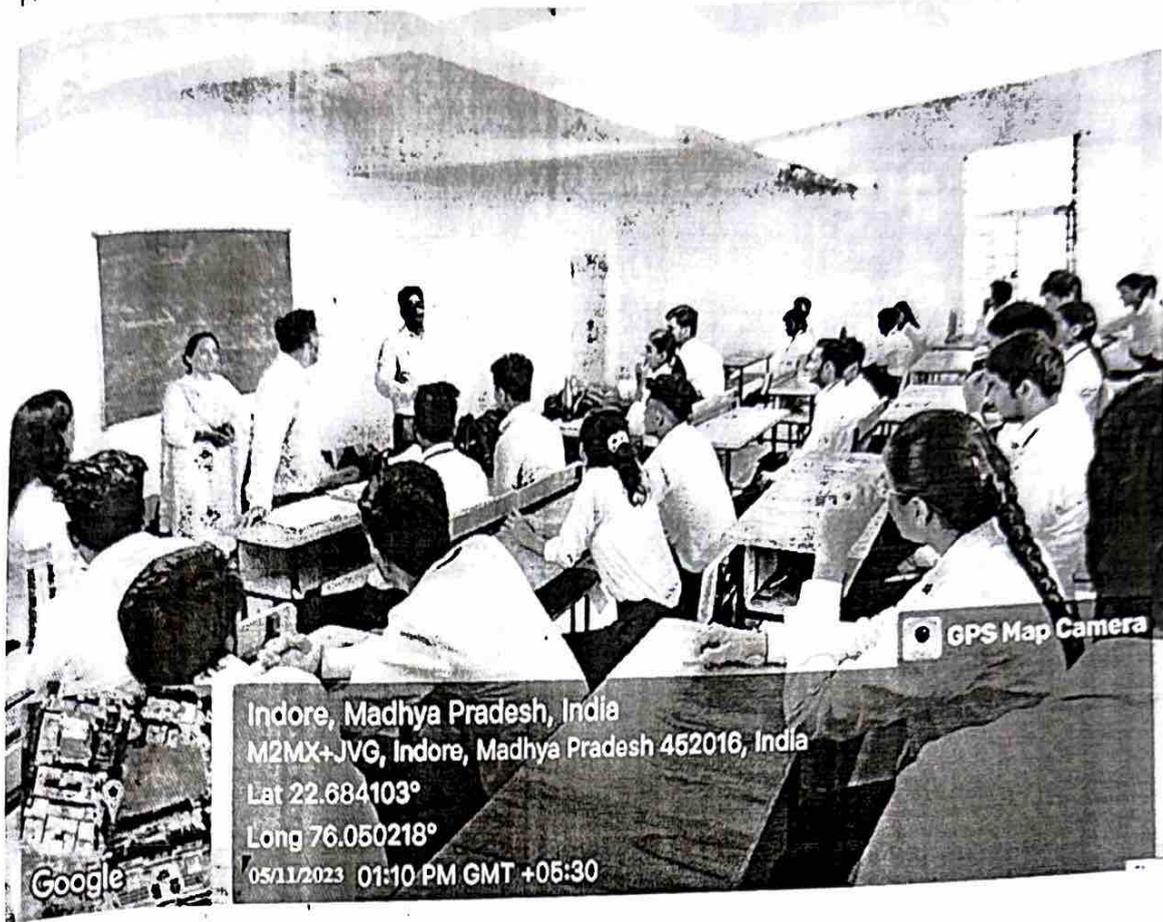

At last she conclude her session and make us aware about to not to take the medication without concern and follow the instruction given by the prescribers. And not to perform any malpractice process.
